

Dear Principal,

Greetings from The Times Group.

Warren Buffet once said, "Price is what you pay, VALUE is what you get"

Times NIE in association with Horus Financial Consultants Pvt. Ltd is bringing a fun-filled, engaging and interactive Webinar for your students on 'Power of Saving & Value of Money!'

Financial literacy and money management is a life skill that helps an individual perform two important functions.

1. Protect themselves from con-schemes and other influential traps
2. Deploy the financial resources that they create in the most optimum manner to accomplish personal milestones.

Most adults tend to gain financial literacy through personal experiences, mostly mistakes and errors in judgment either because of following the herd or the programming received from family and friends.

Warren Buffet, one of the richest investors in the world started investing at the age of 11 and considered himself to be late! Hence it is vital to impart financial knowledge and money handling skills to children early on so that they get enough opportunities to develop their financial intelligence by the time they become adults and start building their career.

Here's an introductory video by Mr. Chenthil R. Iyer, Founder of Horus, who will also be the faculty for the webinar. Through this video you will understand the simplicity with which the concepts are discussed.
